The Packard SHOE FOR MEN

THE A. S. OF E. COLUMN

—BY MR. J. H. SAUMERS—

Last week we tried to show you Mr. Everett's plan for holding our wheat crop for one dollar. Our friends, the F. E. & C. U. aim to co-operate with their brethren in Hickman County and put up an elevator at Macon.

We thought that some of them and some of our non-union friends would co-operate with us, and many of our members feared we might have a car famine at thrashing time so we could not take our wheat to Union City to a large elevator and decided to put up two small elevators, one at Cayce and one at Shuck Switch or some where on the N. C. & St. L. Ry. We therefore met at Hickman on Thursday the 4th and revised our constitution and by-laws as follows:

ART. I.
Sec. 1. Officers of this Elevator Co. shall be President, Vice President, Secretary and board of five Directors.

Sec. 2. Officers and directors shall be elected at the annual meeting the last Saturday in April for one year, but shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified.

Sec. 3. The duties of officers shall be such as fall to officers in similar organizations.

Sec. 4. In elections each person shall have as many votes as he holds shares of twenty-five dollars each, but no member shall own either by subscription or purchase more than forty shares.

ART. II.
Sec. 1. The Board or Directors shall have charge of the prudential concerns of the company, hire agents and representatives and decide their compensation, but said expense and compensation must not exceed the income of the elevator for the current year.

Sec. 2. The Board of Directors shall make a written report to the stock holders at the regular annual meeting.

Sec. 3. The testing and weighing of wheat received at elevator shall be done under the supervision of the directors by their duly authorized agent.

Sec. 4. When wheat crops are large, stockholders shall be limited to 200 bushels per share, but if the elevator is not full they may store more than 200 bushels per share.

Sec. 5. Stockholders must file with the directors of the elevator the number of acres and the probable number of bushels they wish to store not later than June 10.

ART. III.
Sec. 1. Wet wheat or wheat in such condition as to damage other wheat in elevator or that would lower the grade below No. 2, shall be rejected or handled in sacks until dry enough to store in bins at the owner's extra expense.

Sec. 2. Depositors shall receive price for wheat when sold only for grade established by authorized tester at elevator when stored.

Sec. 3. Stockholders shall have preference of storing their wheat first, members of A. S. of E. not stockholders second, and non-union farmers not stockholders third and last.

The preamble to this constitution states that members of the A. S. of E. are urged to take stock in this elevator company but non-union farmers will be permitted to take stock and co-operate with us.

Also that "We the farmers of Fulton Co. Ky., have decided to erect an elevator at Shuck's Switch Cayce, or any place the people may decide upon (before soliciting stock) to store our wheat."

The farmers near Cayce are already at work soliciting stock for an elevator at Cayce.

We visited Cayce on Saturday p. m. there we met our young friend George Roper with his graphophone and a goodly number of farmers. Mr. Roper belongs to the F. E. and C. U. so he kindly consented to take his graphophone into the hall and play a few times to collect the audience. Some 30 farmers assembled in the hall and we addressed them for forty minutes.

The committee secured some promises of new members at the next meeting after which the constitution was read and stock solicited to build an elevator at Cayce Ky.

Mr. Chas. Noonan headed the list with 12 shares of $25 each and soon secured other signers.

We thank Mr. Roper for his music and co-operation and hope that he and his fellow F. E. and C. U. brethren will succeed in erecting a good elevator at Moscow and store their wheat.

Can we not take a lesson from this move? Why not send and get some equity-sons have our wives, sisters and daughters learn them, attend our meetings and play and sing them.

How rapidly the men will join when the ladies attend.

It is our intention to solicit stock this week to build an elevator under this constitution to be built at Shuck Switch or somewhere on the N. C. & St. L. Ry. but the location will be decided on before any one is asked to take stock so there will be no leap in the dark.

We find there have been some mistakes about the elevators and the pledge. Some members thought we were pledging farmers to hold their wheat until it is rotted if we did not get a dollar per bushel. The pledge states that if we do not secure $1 on or before Sept. 30, that the pledge is null and void.

Let us meet often, discuss more, understand one another better and we shall succeed.

Young People's Christian Endeavor Organized.

At the Christian Church, Sunday night last, the Hickman Young People's Christian Endeavor was organized. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and accepted. A nominating committee of three was appointed to meet and nominate officers. On Monday afternoon the committee met and nominated the following officers:

Elder Frank H. Vernoer, Christian Church, President.

Miss Virginia Lutten, Methodist Church, Vice-President.

Miss Mayne Haylor, Presbyterian Church, Recording Secretary.

Miss Nina Glenn, Christian Church, Corresponding Secretary.

Miss Corinne Maddox, Baptist Church, Treasurer.

An effort was made to select the officers in such a manner that each of the churches would be represented. It is a good work and it is hoped that the young people from the various churches will get interested and work for the movement. There was considerable interest manifested the first meeting, and those who are working for its organization were very much encouraged.

The endeavor will meet at the Methodist Church next Sunday afternoon at 6:30, to elect officers.

Business Picking Up.

Fulton is all agog over the arrest of H. J. Newton, a private detective from Chicago. Newton was brought there four weeks ago by Mayor U. S. Shacklett and the city council for the purpose of unearthing bootleggers. The man went quietly to work and secured the conviction of a number of illicit whisky dealers. With the first exposure came threats against the detective. The threats were made by men who were in no manner connected with the whisky dealers, but who despised Newton because of the business in which he was engaged. These threats were made, it was alleged, by Wayne Thomas proprietor of a poolroom, and by R. S. Murphy, Jr. Mayor Shacklett, Chief of Police Eaker and others warned Newton not to go about Thomas and Murphy, fearing trouble would arise. Friday morning while Newton was in Morris & Bard's store, Thomas and Murphy walked in. Newton spoke to Thomas, whereupon the latter said "Don't speak to me; I'm no friend of yours." As he advanced toward Newton the latter flashed a revolver and warned him to stop. With the gun in his hand, Newton backed out of the store. He was arrested in his room in the New Century Hotel upon two warrants, one for pointing a pistol and the other for carrying concealed weapons. He was tried upon the first charge and the jury disagreed. Another jury was empaneled and the case tried again. After being out one hour the jury returned a verdict of acquittal, holding that Newton acted in self-defense.

The sentiment of the town was divided, the liquor element siding with the prosecution and the prohibitionists with the defense. Much bad blood was aroused and in open court H. T. Smith, attorney for the defense, asked the court to instruct the chief of police to search every man in the court room. This demand caused quite a stir among the several hundred people in the court room. No such demand was ever before made in this county. The court overruled the motion and the trial proceeded. No hostile demonstration was made, and the verdict of the jury was received in silence. No such event has occurred in Fulton since the trial of the Agel outlaws.

Jamestown Exposition.

On May 13, 1607, three boats anchored off a peninsula which jutted into Fowltan's River, and there set up a stockaded place of defense, which they called James Fort. Our hundred and five settlers were left on the ships, among them was John Smith, a wonderful genius and adventurer, a man destined to carry the infant colony through perilous trials.

Smith and his men and those who followed them made out of the fort a town which they called Jamestown, and from James City grew Virginia, and from Virginia, these United States.

The Exposition will celebrate in 1907 the 300th anniversary of the Nation's beginning.

It will be located on the shores overlooking the beautiful waters of Hampton Roads, Virginia, around which cluster the populous and thriving cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Hampton, Old Point Comfort and Fort Monroe.

The site is one of unsurpassed natural beauty, it is a landscape treatment of which promises the most picturesque effect ever attained at any exposition held in America.

Just one week from today the gates will be opened. The Courier has looked up the railroad fare from Hickman. A round trip season ticket will cost $34.15—60-day ticket $29.65—15-day ticket $24.30.

Here is the Exposition in a nutshell.

Official name: Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition.

Character: Military, Naval, Marine, and Historic exhibition.

Nature: State, National and International Historic exhibition.

Purpose: Commemoration of the first permanent settlement of English speaking people in America.

Opening: The hour of noon, April 26, 1907.

Closing date: The hour of midnight, November 30, 1907.

To be opened by the President of the United States.

To be closed by President and Governors of the Exposition.

Location: Exposition grounds, on Hampton road, near Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News, Va.

Exposition Company Headquarters, Norfolk, Va.

Size of Exposition grounds: 400 acres of land space, fronting the wide expanse of Hampton Roads with an area sufficient to anchor the masts of a world.

Distances from Exposition grounds: Norfolk City limits, five miles; Fortress Monroe, four miles; Old Point Comfort, three and a half miles; Newport News, five miles; Portsmouth, eight miles; Ocean View, three miles.

Exposition grounds reached by electric railway, steam railway and steamships.

Opening hour for Exposition gates, 8 o'clock in the morning.

Closing hour for Exposition gates: 11 o'clock at night.

Price of admission to grounds: Adults, 50 cents; Children, 25 cents.

Government buildings on Exposition grounds open at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock in the evening.

The Jamestown Exposition has three miles of water front—two and a half miles on Hampton Roads and half a mile on Boush Creek.

Two sides of the Exposition grounds are inclosed by a high wire fence, covered with honeysuckle, crimson rambling rose and trumpet creeper vines.

The Exposition's great military drill plain contains thirty acres, surrounded by trees and pretty walks.

A canoe trail, two miles long and twelve feet wide, runs from Boush Creek, which flows into Hampton Roads, through the most interesting part of the Exposition grounds.

A romantic winding trail, called Flirtation Walk, follows along Canoe Trail for more than a mile.

A fine beach grounds along the Exposition grounds for a mile.

The various State buildings are all near the water front.

From the State buildings can be seen ships and steamers going out to sea and coming in from all parts of the world.

The Jamestown Exposition is a historical study of the past 300 years.

The prevailing style of architecture at the Exposition is Colonial.

Many of the Exhibit buildings and to all the States' buildings are of permanent structures.

The Isle of Pines.

By the supreme court's decision the Isle of Pines must be looked upon as foreign territory in the future. The enthusiastic American, therefore, who, in a visionary way, has been wont to dream of vast wealth gleaned from the tropical isle, must now turn his attention to other fields.

The Isle of Pines was discovered by Columbus in 1494, on his second voyage, though he had touched the mainland of Cuba upon his first voyage. Its name is doubtless derived from the forests of its northern part, which include, besides pine, cedar and mahogany. The southern half is swampy, but offers attractions for cultivation of products through drainage. Its soil and climate are very fine and have attracted large numbers of American investors whose hopes of American sovereignty and ownership have now been rudely dashed. From the supreme court there is no appeal. The Stars and Stripes are not to wave above the tropical isle.

WHY

It should suffer from indigestion, constipation, biliousness, flatulence, nervousness, headache, dizziness, etc. It will cure you. P. H. Weston, Louisville, Ky. writes: "I am well and healthy. I feel like a new man and I am a better man."

The trial of Albert Carr, charged with seduction, took place before Judge Edward Crossland today and the defendant was held over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $300. Young Carr is accused of seducing Miss Myrtle Pierce under promise of marriage and the young woman is under the age of 21 years. The warrant was issued for Carr sometime in March and he went to Texas from which place he was brought last week by Constable F. E. Webb. Mr. Carr gave bond.—Mayfield Messenger.

Immediately after being admitted to bail, two suits for $10,000 each were filed against him. One by the girl's father for services rendered the girl, and one by the girl for breach of promise.

A Romantic Marriage.

From the East Prince, Mr. Rader.

Many young people are nothing if not romantic—some more so than others. A couple of young people braved the chilly winds of last Wednesday and drove out to Rev. W. H. Blacklock's home and called him out. Upon emerging he was informed by the young man, Robert Farmer, of Barnes' Ridge, that he and his fair companion, Miss Queen Wilson, of Three-States, wished to be married. The good divine invited them in, but was informed that they wished to be married while standing in the buggy, and the good parson accommodated them at once. This was the second marriage ceremony that Rev. Blacklock has performed in the road in front of his residence.

Mr. C. B. Linton, of Fulton, and Miss Beatie Langford, of this city, were united in marriage, at Hickman, Sunday night at 10 o'clock, by Rev. H. C. Johnson.

The ceremony was performed at Mrs. Rudder's, a sister of the bride. The happy young couple took the 10:30 train for Fulton, their future home.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Annie McConnell Murphy, of Jordan, Ky., this county, to Mr. Horace Bettersworth, of Jackson, Miss., formerly a Hickman boy. Mr. Bettersworth is a son of Mrs. J. W. Purcell, of Route Four, recently moved to Jackson, Miss., where he is employed by the Commercial Bank of that place. He is a young man who is well liked by all his associates and acquaintances. Miss Murphy is a sister of Mrs. Dr. H. E. Prather, of this city, is a favorite among the society people of her community, is universally loved by her friends and companions, and the young couple have hosts of friends who join with the Courier in wishing them abundant success and a happy life. The wedding will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bondurant, at Jordan on April 30th. They will make Jackson their future home.

Deputy United States Marshal Wade Brown, who, in making an arrest in the lower bottom, last week, accidentally shot and killed a young man, Jas. Bolton, whom he was taking to jail, was brought to Hickman from Paduch, Tuesday, and given a preliminary hearing before Judge Naylor. Attorney H. F. Remley, of Hickman, and Moore, of Wickliffe defended the prisoner. Henry Remley, it is the unanimous opinion of all present, is the best speech in his argument of the case that he has ever made since practicing in Hickman. After hearing the evidence and argument of counsel, Judge Naylor admitted Mr. Brown to bail to await the Circuit Court for involuntary manslaughter. The general sympathy of the public is in behalf of the officer, and everyone thinks that he should and will be exonerated at trial next month. Mr. Brown is the successor to Mr. Saunders, who last summer was accidentally shot in the leg, and was compelled to have the limb amputated, and resign his office.

A horrible crime was perpetrated at Arlington, the early part of the week. A young man named Stockton went to the home of his uncle and asked to stay all night. The request was granted and he was assigned a room adjoining the one in which his uncle and aunt slept. During the night the uncle was awakened by a noise in the room and opening the door the young man fired point blank at the man's breast, the charge going through the body and through two walls of the room. His aunt attempted to defend her husband and was beaten into insensibility, clapped over her clothing and set afire. He secured $300 from the house and escaped. The aunt recovered in time to extinguish the flames. The uncle will probably recover, but the aunt will, it is thought, die from the wounds. The young man was arrested at Bardwell.

THE SWEETEST WORDS.

What are the sweetest words that fall from the lips of a man?
That come from his home from above?
The answer is to cheer?
They are the words of highest bliss
To bring mortals here.
We findal comfort, hope and peace
In Mother, Home and Heaven.
They show the stars along the way
Our Father's love and grace.
And when the shadows of the night
In loneliness they fall,
Like drops of healing balm they soothe
Those hearts oppressed with care,
Who find life's barren day to day,
A heavy load to bear.
We hear their in the morning time,
And the beautiful rest
We hear them when the glowing sun
Rises down the eastern west,
And when the stars that tell us how
By death's waters have been given,
Then may we rise on Faith's pure wings
To Mother, Home and Heaven.

SUBMISSIONS FOR HUSBANDS

Do not fret with your wife upon a subject in which there is danger of wounding her feelings. Remember that she treasures every word you utter. Do not speak of some virtue in another man's wife to remind your own of a fault. Do not reproach your wife with personal faults, for, if she has sensibility, you inflict a wound difficult to heal. Do not treat your wife to inattention when in company; it touches her pride, and she will not respect you more or love you better for it. Do not upbraid your wife in the presence of a third person; the sense of your disregard for her feelings will prevent her from acknowledging her fault. Do not entertain your wife with praising the beauty and accomplishments of other women. If you would have a pleasant home and a cheerful wife, pass your evenings under your own roof. Do not be stern and silent in your own house and remarkable for sociability elsewhere.

A GOOD DAUGHTER.

There are other ministers of love more conspicuous than a good daughter, but none in which a gentler, lovelier spirit dwells, and none to which the heart's warm requitals more joyfully respond. She is the steady light of her father's house. Her idea is indissolubly connected with that of his happy freelife. She is the morning sun and evening star. The grace, vivacity and tenderness of her sex have the place in the mighty away which she holds over his spirit. The lessons of recorded wisdom which he reads with a new charm, as blended with the beloved melody of her voice. He scarcely knows weariness which her song does not make him forget, or gloom which is proof against the young brightness of her smile. She is the pride and the ornament of his hospitality and the gentle nurse of his sickness, and the constant agent of those nameless, numberless acts of kindness which one chiefly cares to have rendered because they are unpretending but expressive acts of love.

GO TO WORK.

Young man, go to work! There is no time to idle now. You must carve out your own way if it is ever successfully carved. You must seek your fortune through industry, perseverance and pluck. Labor is honorable, and the ignoble are those who will not work. Get you a home. Fence a field and plow it and plant it, and gather around you the comforts of a home. And when you have made a character for industry and thrift, ask some lady to share your home with you. We would say to every young lady, mark these men who are lounging around attempting to live by their wits, or on the interest of their debts, and when they ask you to share the lot of an aimless life, pass them on; for you cannot afford to marry a man without property, or business habits, unless you wish to sell yourself for a mess of pottage. Again we would reiterate, young man, go to work; while ten men watch for chances one man makes a chance; while ten men wait for something to turn up one turns something up; while ten men fail, one succeeds, and is called the man of luck, the favorite of for-

YOUR BOY.

"Oh, where is my wandering boy tonight?" Take a look down the street about 10 or 11 o'clock. Notice the signs lying torn down, boxes overturned, stumps buried through windows, shutters pried open. Who are these types of unmitigated public nuisances? "What!" you exclaim, "my boy there?" We do not say so, but since he is not at home suppose you look and ascertain, and it is possible you may be surprised. Somebody's boys are there and we ask, whether it is the tendency and ultimate results of these night ramblings and such doing? A few words will suffice as an answer.

They are in the training school of vice from which are graduated hoodlums, loafers, gamblers, sneak thieves, burglars, and in fact all the crimes that curse society; and yet parents and guardians will unthinkingly permit those whose future well being is in their hands, to run night after night in unbeknown and unrestrained companionship with those whose example and influence is continually in the direction of evil. To this law of home restraint, more than to all other causes is due the appalling increase of crime throughout the nation. No boy is safe who is allowed access to the streets at night.

The Real Ku Klux.

They were all tall men, not under 6 feet, and looked still taller in their robes. They were long and full, with loose, flowing sleeves, and held in at the waist with a leather belt. Each man carried two heavy pistols in holsters on the belt, and also a dagger. The robes were black, and covered with all kinds of queer devices cut out of white cloth and sewn on the garment, though some of the robes were trimmed with red. One had a ghastly death's head and crossbones on his breast, with delicate little cross-bones scattered over his robe. The second had "Dead Rebel!" neatly done in red, with spade, pick and headstone below, and as the third turned I saw K. K. K. in white letters across his shoulders. This man's head was covered with a long, bag-like mask, such as they all wore, which came well down on the shoulders to conceal the beard. It was black, with the holes for the eyes and nose outlined with white cloth, and the mouth set with the semblance of grinning white teeth. He had white bones on his head, and from under the back of his mask long, coarse, curly, white hair which looked as if it might have been made from the brush of a cow's tail, fell over his shoulders. He also had a long, flowing, white beard, which had been made out of wood. The one who represented "Dead Rebel" had a red mask, and the death's head a white one. They had heavy gauntlet gloves on their hands, and their disguise was absolute.
